The wishing pool, surrounded by white pillars, awaits the excitement of the evening

The Junior Class presented the Junior Senior Prom on the evening of Saturday, May 10, 1969. The dance began at 8:30 with music provided by the Wes Clark Orchestra. The theme, "The Night Has A Thousand Stars," was carried through with decorations of a starlit night. The centerpieces on the tables were blue moons surrounded by star favors. Members of the Junior Class spent many long hours after school transforming the gymnasium into a magical paradise. The center of the floor was highlighted with a wishing pool surrounded by a garden scene.

By vote of her fellow classmates, Miss Laura Dye became the 1969 Prom Queen. Her royal court consisted of Jane Buehler, Pamela Snode, Kathryn Thomas, and Karen Werstler. Thus the evening ended as a memorable occasion to all those concerned.

Leslie Lanzer Captures Duchess Title

On October 3, a spirited Duke Football team captured a well-earned victory over West Branch Warriors to give the 1969 Homecoming a grand start. At special pre-game and half-time ceremonies, the Duchess and her court were presented to the fans by Mr. Robert Moore. Attired in a fall suit, each girl was escorted by her father as the band played "More."

Saturday evening the annual dance was held with the theme "Time of the Season." A fall atmosphere of pumpkins, gourds, and corn shocks prevailed to carry out the theme. Couples danced to the music of Paul Halverstadt's Orchestra and were served cider and doughnuts during the evening. At 9 o'clock, attendants were escorted to the throne where retiring Duchess Debra Breit crowned her successor. Enhanced in a cloud of mist, Leslie Lanzer reigned as Duchess.

Administration Provides Leadership

The administration made up the basic framework which the faculty was built upon. It provided the necessary leadership for the immediate and future well-being of the students. These people have dedicated many long hours of service for the smooth running of the school.

Superintendent Mr. Harold Hall, whose job is to administrate all areas of school life, was backed by the Board of Education. The six people on the Board of Education helped to secure the best facilities possible.

Assisting principal Mr. Thomas Hazen, were Mr. Richard Garra and Mr. Gerald Moore. They smoothed out the student's discipline problems and in general supervised the students.

Aiding the administrators were Mrs. Fern Coulter, Mrs. Helen France, and Mr. Melvin Snode. They guided students over their rough problems and directed the students in decisions that would influence not only their school life, but also the rest of their lives.

English Furnishes Thread to Communication

Karen Turner
English, Dramatics Coach, Nat'l Theaps. Adviser

All man's achievements were traceable to one simple, basic factor: the ability to communicate his ideas to his fellow man. Not only was he able to communicate his ideas orally, but he was able to preserve and accumulate these ideas through the miracle of the written word. Reading, thinking, and writing were not only complementary and interconnected, but they were parts of a single process - communication. The teachers of the English department stressed the importance and necessity of communication. All processes of communicating, whether they were writing or speaking, reflected the students inescapable individuality. Each teacher stressed the importance of the fundamental and objective principles of good writing and clear thinking.

Mrs. Helen Hodge headed the English department which was comprised of Mrs. Barbara Spahlinger, Mrs. Janet Spencer, Mrs. Joyce Thompson, Miss Nancy Carli, Mrs. Karen Turner, Miss Carol Bartha, Mrs. Marilyn Sweeney, Mr. Gerald Burke, Mr. Merrill Purviance.

Creative writing was included in the English courses. This class was offered to students who found an interest in writing imaginatively.

History, the ever increasing art of man, is continually growing. Thus, the teachers stressed this subject greatly.

Moments of the past were re-built, torn down, discussed and analyzed so that the student might consume the infinite knowledge of mind ages ago. Special techniques, such as: films, lectures, debates, and topic discussions, were used to probe students' minds, to obtain insight of past experiences, and bring into being the association of the past, present, and future.

Teachers in charge of this department teach various types of history and other subjects. Mr. James Turner, eighth grade social studies, Mr. William Radd, driver education and eighth grade social studies, Mr. Richard Hickerson, eighth grade social studies and American government, Mr. Paul Keller, American history and debate; Mr. Howard Kitzmiller, psychology, sociology, and American government; Mr. James Leedy, American history and current history; Mrs. Lynn Schnoke, world history, American government and world geography; and Mr. Roger Schnoke, American government and world history.

Teachers Stress Math in Everyday Life

This year the mathematics teachers stressed the great significance of math in everyday life and actual situations. The goal of the mathematics teacher was not to have the student memorize his work for the day, but to give this student the basic knowledge for attaining further application and understanding.

The teachers were constantly building around material already known to the student. Mr. Carlos Mason and Mr. Robert Davis, teaching the basic fundamentals of math, set the knowledge in motion. As students progressed further, Mr. James Sabin and Mr. Larry Marazza introduced the technique of new algebra. In the third stage of learning, Mrs. Elda Meese taught geometry and advanced math. For students who found a particular liking in mathematics or those who found their future's leaning toward this field, Mr. Robert Moore helped the students achieve the further knowledge they needed in advanced math and Algebra II.

No matter what the students' futures held for them, their knowledge of math, no matter how great or small, will be a part of them.

The chemistry program was expanded to meet the growing demands for the knowledge of science. New textbooks were purchased for both the general science and chemistry classes. Each teacher worked with his students to make the Science Fair a great success. Many projects were entered by the students of the school. Science has taken on a new perspective and challenge to each student through the instruction of the science teachers. Instructing the eighth grade in its science program was Mr. Keith Miller and Mr. Kenneth Simpson. Mr. Kenneth Simpson also taught the physics course and a class on the operations of amateur radio. General science was under the instruction of Mrs. Grace Hatch and Mr. Paul Elsass. Mr. Robert McClain taught general science and biology while Mr. Craig Barnett taught biology. General science and chemistry were both taught by Mrs. Judith Turner. Mr. Kay Vaughan, the chairman of the science department, taught chemistry.

Vocational Business offered to students opportunities in two major areas: secretarial and clerical. The courses were offered in block time. During this time the students received various skills in all the basic courses they needed pertaining to this area. The students began as juniors and finished as seniors. During this time the students had enough knowledge to obtain a reasonable job. Teachers in this area were Mrs. Francis Allen, Mr. John Admonius, Mr. David McCown, Mrs. Joan Lutz, and Mr. Robert Loescher.

Industrial Arts offered a general background for future job placement. The divisions taught were drawing, wood working, electricity, and metals, taught by Mr. Gary Dennis, Mr. Walter Headley, Mr. Howard Kirk, Mr. Richard Parker, and Mr. William Steeber. Industrial Arts filled the gap for general experience for the future. Industrial Arts was that part which allows a student to explore, identify and develop occupational interests in this area.

Foreign languages helped each student have a broadened outlook toward the world in which he lives. The Department Chairman, Mrs. Eleanor Ramser, was assisted by Mrs. Ada Sue Dehoff, Mrs. Grace Reighard, and Miss Rosemarie Trenjan. French, Latin, and Spanish have provided a background for many other courses.

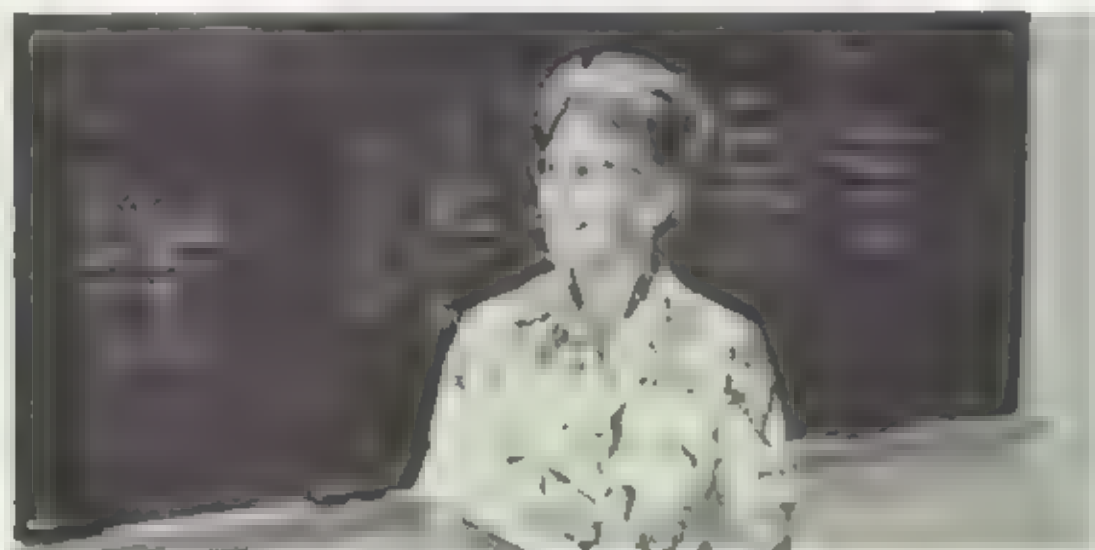

Mrs. Louise Bingham successfully challenged her students to express themselves through music. The enthusiasm of the students was evident at the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Spring concerts.

Assisted by Mr. William Westover, Mr. James Waldock was able to lead the band to new and better horizons. Besides being a major part of the pep rallies and football games, the band traveled to many new places and performed before many new audiences.

The informal atmosphere and spirit of cooperation led the students to rewarding results in the art program. The Department chairman, Mr. Thomas Haverfield, along with his fellow teachers Mr. Ronald Priest and Mrs. Naomi Breit, challenged students to develop their own techniques of creativity.

Mrs. Franks, the librarian, helps with student librarians and Librarians Club. She, along with the student librarians, purchases and organizes books and magazines for the use of the students.

Occupational Work Experience, O.W.E., was designed for those students interested in receiving on-the-job work experience. In charge of this program was Mr. Myron Pearson.

The special education department was particularly concerned with helping those students who had a learning disability or who were educationally handicapped. This department was instructed by Mrs. Karen Fulton and Mr. Clifford Shaffer. Working along with these teachers was Mrs. Elaine Pierce, the psychologist. Her work was very closely associated with the special education program.

The student's curriculum was not totally composed of scholastic studies. Physical education prepared the students physically as well as mentally. The physical education teachers were Mr. Richard Monter, Mr. Robert Hinchliffe, and Mrs. Jacqueline Hutchison.

The Senior Class officers for the 1969-1970 school year were president, Jack Wyles; vice president, William Rastetter; secretary, Debra Brett; and treasurer, Mitzi Mihaila. Throughout the year the officers planned activities such as the Senior Class sponsored dance, under the supervision of Mr. Robert Moore, class advisor. The theme of the dance was "Dancin' in the Streets" with road signs as the decor.

The Seniors' Motto was "To Attain the Unattainable." The white orchid was chosen as the class flower, and navy and white were chosen as the class colors.

Filled with laughter and tears, excitement and anticipation, the year passed quickly. With Homecoming, Prom, and finally graduation behind them, they each plan for their own futures.

BOYS' STATE Paul Domino, Bill Rastetter, Val Woolf, and Jack Wyles

Chosen as delegates to the 1969 Boys' State Convention were Paul Domino and Bill Rastetter. Bill, however, could not attend the convention held at Ohio University in Athens, Ohio, nor could Val Woolf, first alternate. Jack Wyles, second alternate, attended the convention with Paul.

The 1969 Boy's State Convention was held June 12 through the 22. Boys from all over the state of Ohio participated in a model state government. They lived in cities and counties and elected the various city and state officials. Each city was made up of fifty boys, half of them members of the Nationalist Party and half members of the Federalist Party.

Paul Domino was a member of the Federalist

Party and lived in Baker City, Galbrith County. He ran for Baker City treasurer and was elected to that position.

As a member of the Nationalist Party, Jack Wyles lived in the city of Ingersol in James County. He was elected to the House of Representatives.

Paul was sponsored by the Washington Ruritans and Jack was sponsored by the Marlboro Lions.

Both boys felt that their time was well spent at the 11th consecutive convention. They attended programs where Governor James Rhodes and Lieutenant Governor John Brown were among the guest speakers.

Eighth Grade

The Eighth Grade class officers were James France, president, Lynn Carile, vice president Dorsey Ney, secretary, and Gary Weizenecker, treasurer. Mr. Kirk aroused ideas as he acted as their adviser. As the year progressed, they became accustomed to Eighth Grade activities as Marlinton students. The Eighth Graders attended two class dances. Throughout their first year they accumulated many hardships and responsibilities. They eagerly await their Freshman year.

The National Honor Society was an honorary association founded to recognize enthusiasm for scholarship, the development of character and leadership, and the desire to render service. Members were selected by a faculty vote on the basis of these characteristics. The students came from a field of all the juniors and seniors with a scholastic average of 3.2 or above. The society's motto was "Noblesse Oblige" and the colors, blue and gold.

Induction of new members took place in the auditorium on March 13, 1969. An organ prelude was played by Suzanne Byers as the student body and guests were seated. Reverend Leonard Solt of the Union Avenue United Methodist Church began the ceremony with the invocation. A speech was given by Dr. James Rodman of Mount Union College. Lighted candles represented the four qualities which were explained by various members of the society. New members were then tapped with the gold key, representative of knowledge. Afterwards a reception for members and their parents was held in the library.

In November the society met to elect officers. They were Gary Middleton, president; Jim Donenwirth, vice president; Stephanie Van Dress, secretary; and Val Woolf, treasurer. Other meetings were held to plan the spring induction of 1970.

Council Considers Changes

Mrs. Ramser, council adviser, aids in planning the council's many activities.

Bill Rastetter and Leslie Lanzer serve punch to Laura Dye and Robert Spalding at the alumni tea.

Paula Conklin, Debbie Chapman, and Leslie Lanzer, the committee for charity drive, count the money collected.

Each year four students from every class are elected to Student Council by their fellow classmates with the exception of the senior class, which has five members. The Student Council served as a media between the students and the administration. The Council met the first and third Wednesday of each month at the school to discuss matters brought to their attention. Some of those were school dress policy, a sandwich line possibility, problems at sockhops, and a new method of entering dances.

To add to holiday festivities, they decorated a Christmas tree in the auditorium and held an alumni tea preceding the annual Christmas program. The three charities chosen by the Council were Muscular Dystrophy, UNICEF, and the Cancer Fund. Another collection was made for Jeff Ware, who was seriously injured in an accident. Collections for these were made during homeroom period. The Council sponsored a faculty game with WINW radio station, who provided music for the sockhop afterwards. By having an exchange day with members of Louisville's Student Council, two of the Council members returned with ideas for the betterment of our school. As in previous years, the Student Council presented an award to one student who best exemplified ten attributes of citizenship, symbolized by letters of the school's name. Mrs. Ramser guided the Council throughout the year's activities.

Scholarship Team Ranks High

The scholarship team was composed of students with district and state rankings in scholarship tests. To qualify, team members first had to rate among the top four in the preliminary qualifying tests, which were given in each major subject. Students then advanced to district competition. Top scorers advanced finally to state competition. Because of the large number of students participating, high rankings were difficult to achieve. Seven students attained top scores in state tests, with three students placing and four earning honorable mentions. The scholarship tests are given each spring, and scholarship team competition begins again.

Music Theory I - Dave Bieri, Fourth in the State

French II - Cindy Phillips, Honorable Mention in the State

Music Theory I - Sue Barzda, Seventh in the State

Bookkeeping I- Marilyn Smith, Honorable Mention in the State

English I- Brenda Foster, Superiority in the State

Chemistry- Bill Rastetter, Honorable Mention in the State

Scenario Records Year's Activities

Karen Newhouse—Typist, Claire Lutton Ron Dimit Photographers
Laurie Williams—Typist

The task of producing a yearbook to please the students, administration, and critics was the objective of the 1969 70 Scenario staff. They created a different book from previous years by introducing new ideas. This year the theme, "A Face in the Crowd" was used to distinguish the individual from the group and was carried throughout the opening section and divider pages. These were featured by expanding the usage of color pictures in response to their great approval in past annuals. The Scenario achieved a new book by displaying the school colors on the cover

The students in each section were responsible for making layouts, writing copy, captions, and headlines, selecting and cropping pictures, making picture lists, proofreading, and making duplicates of everything. Meetings were held several times during the summer to introduce new members to the procedures of making the book and to brief returning members on new rules. The staff was also required to stay after school in order to meet forthcoming deadlines. During the summer and at the beginning of the school year, advertisements were sold by staff members to help pay for the cost of the book. The reason for the rise in cost of this year's Scenario to the student was due to higher publication costs

As a reward for the staff's hard work, a banquet was held in the spring to celebrate the success of another Scenario

'Shield' Informs Students

After devoting much time and talent to produce a newspaper representing the students, the Shield staff completed a very successful year. Bi-monthly editions of the paper were published containing articles of interest to all students. These included reports of sports events, current events, editorials, crossword puzzles, humorous articles, and calendars of coming events. A column for letters to the editor also gave students a chance to voice their opinions. Everyone on the staff contributed ideas for the articles. The best were selected to be used in the paper. The typed articles were checked by Miss Carli and then sent to the Alliance Review, which published the paper. They were sent back as copy to be proofread by the staff. After correcting the mistakes, the articles were sent back to the Review to be printed as the Shield.

Miss Carli and the editor chose their staff from students with a high average in English. Many of the staff members have an interest in journalism. Staff members also learn much concerning journalism through special speakers, books, and films. Each year they have sponsored a sock-hop to raise money which benefits the Shield.

Earning a letter in one or more sports enabled a boy to become a member of Varsity M Club. It was an organization showing much pride and better-than-average achievement in all sports. Not only were members outstanding in athletics, but each had high standards and displayed sportsmanship and school spirit. The club was advised by head basketball coach Roger Schnoke and head football coach Joe Banks.

Spirit was plentiful when members of Pep Club were around. Students backed players during football and basketball seasons, and were always there with an extra boost. Projects included a fall barbershop quartet program, the selling of shakers, victory ribbons, and other spirit-makers during the year. Advised by Mr. Pearson, the club added tremendously to school spirit and student enthusiasm.

"Y-Teen, Do Your Own Thing" was the state-wide theme for 1969-70 Y-Teen clubs. Girls bettered their community while learning that "doing their own thing" could benefit others as well as themselves.

The club's affiliation with the Y.W.C.A. gives some hint as to its purpose. Friendship, respect, and consideration were key words in the Y-Teen Clubs. The Y.W.C.A. gave girls the opportunity to put these words into action with programs and projects aimed at making a better world.

The Alliance Nursing Home was "adopted" by Senior Y-Teens. Throughout the year, girls visited the patients weekly and carried out special programs and activities for holidays. Members found that patients appreciated the time they gave, and girls enjoyed the Wednesday nights spent visiting, writing letters, and watching television with them.

Junior High Y-Teens enjoyed a Christmas shopping trip to Mellett Mall in Canton. Mothers drove the girls who spent the afternoon browsing and picking out gifts.

An Easter service project made Easter much brighter for a family otherwise without that special Easter dinner.

The success of each club was largely due to each girl's participation and willingness to accept responsibility. Girls took pride in their club and made the community more aware that teenagers really do care.

Ken Shoemaker keeps equipment running smoothly

Joining Hi-Y was a boy's way of saying that he cared about his community and his world. Hi-Y boys grew in character which gave them the opportunity to aid others. Service projects were carried out with boys assisting the Tuberculosis Association. A basketball clinic for all grade school boys was held with members, teachers, and coaches instructing boys during the day long program.

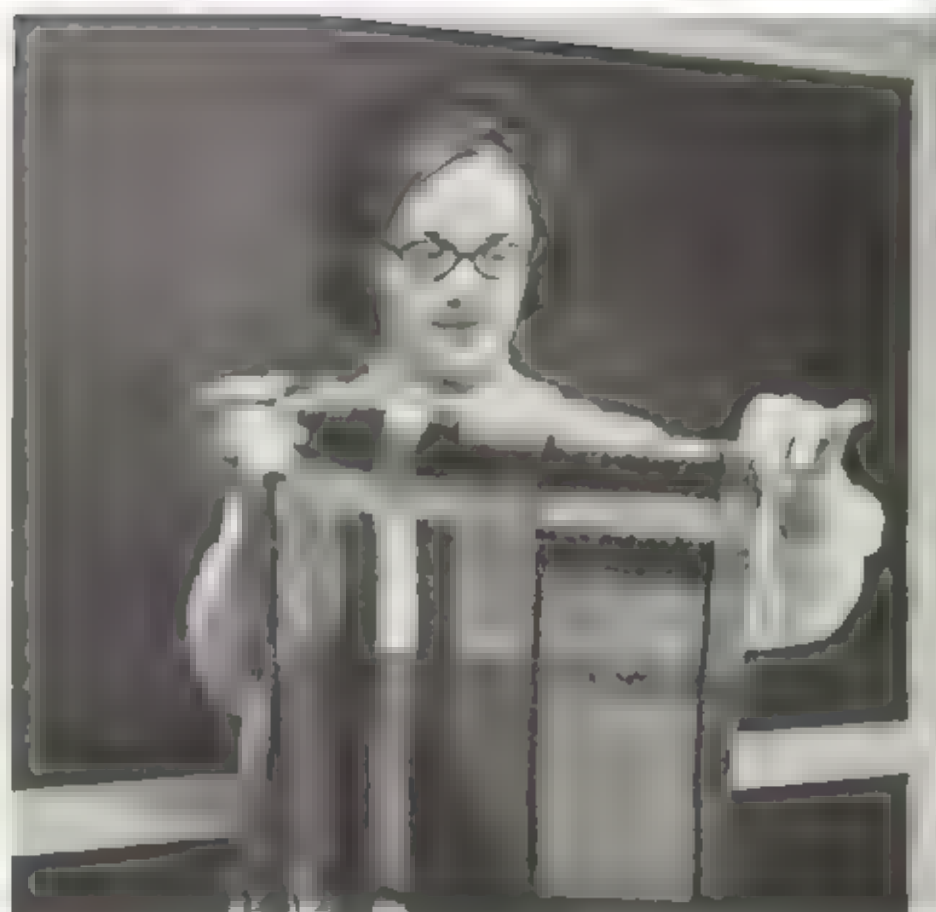

Members toured the National Pro-Football Hall of Fame in Canton, Ohio, finding it interesting and quite awesome.

Hi-Y boys took charge of the Thanksgiving assembly, providing a program for all grades. Along with growing in character, boys kept in shape, spending some evenings at the Y.M.C.A. Swimming and basketball were two of the sports they enjoyed, and boys found that good sportsmanship adds to a player's ability. Advised by Mr. Ron Priest, Hi-Y showed much enthusiasm and character.

All audio-visual equipment used in classrooms and extra-curricular activities was cared for and operated by student projectionists. These boys knew the equipment they handled and assisted faculty throughout the year. Used often by teachers, movies and recordings for science, English, history and other subjects were kept in the audio-visual department. These boys helped faculty greatly by giving their time, talent, and energy.

Special Projects Carried Out

Mrs. Garra reads a devotional thought for students.

Students interested in a career in medicine found Health Careers to be a very worthwhile club. Various fields of medicine were shown to members through speakers, movies, and field trips. A trip to Molly Stark Hospital was one highlight of the year. Members had the opportunity to tour the main buildings of the hospital and get a general idea of hospital procedure. A first-aid course was an activity all members found valuable. It included instruction in emergency first-aid, with demonstrations on correct use of splints, bandages, and tourniquets. A pinning ceremony and banquet concluded the group's activities in the Spring.

Students with the desire to help others and learn about their God were members of Prospectors. Members carried out special project during the year, including several service activities. Each morning a devotional thought preceded the announcements. These were given by the club's advisor, Mrs. Annamae Garra. Students decorated the school at Christmas, giving rooms and corridors a bright holiday look. A coat check at basketball games was another project by members. Religious programs at Christmas and Easter were planned for all grades. Prospectors were a big help to the school and bettered themselves through their organization.

Future Teachers of America was a club for students interested in a teaching career. Throughout the year, they had speakers, programs, and special activities aimed at the teaching profession. During American Education Week, members presented the faculty with small gifts, including carnations, apples, and paddles. Members worked as receptionists in the guidance office during their study halls. The club was advised by Miss Carol Bartha.

The duties of hall guides and office help ranged from getting mail to assisting the principals. The office help aided the secretaries by keeping attendance records, delivering the absence lists, and many other odd jobs. Hall guides paged students, delivered material to teachers, and assisted students. They proved a great help to faculty, students, and administration.

Student Librarians worked daily in the library aiding Mrs. Franks and Mrs. Zellers. They learned the system of filing books and helped keep the library running smoothly. Programs included several book reviews and a Christmas Party. The club was advised by head librarian Helen Franks, assisted by Mrs. Zellers.

Dramadukes Excel in Performances

The great dramatic ability of the Dramadukes and Thespians dazzled audiences in their performances of Curious Savage directed by Mr. Purviance and Rest Assured directed by Mrs. K. Turner and Mr. Dennis.

Curious Savage was a humorous play with a serious thought behind it. Mrs. Savage, played by Shauna Zurbrugg, put all of her wealth into negotiable bonds. Her children, however, portrayed by Vallene Hardman, Carey Rochester, and Steve Blake, had different plans. They put her in a mental hospital and tried desperately to find out where their mother had hidden the bonds. Mrs. Savage, not to be outwitted, sent each of her children on a wild goosechase. The results of the chase and other characters in the play, made Curious Savage a play to remember.

The play, Rest Assured, began as wealthy Mr. Morlock, played by Steve Blake, refused to allow his daughter, Candy Kimes to marry Tom Liberti, the son of Luigi, portrayed by Dave Wallace. One night while asleep, Mr. Morlock dreamed Luigi had died and was haunting him until he gave consent for the marriage. Mr. Morlock, as stubborn and selfish as ever, still refused. Soon afterwards he also died, and was going to be sent to the "world below". It was at this time that Mr. Morlock realized what a bad husband and father he had been. When he awakened from this dream, he gave consent for the marriage and vowed to change his ways. The entire production was a well presented comedy.

Luigi, played by Dave Wallace, enjoys life as he rests his head on the lap of Miss Akers, portrayed by Karen Kitzmiller

Clubs Provide Services

Recognition and honor were brought to our school this year through the National Forensic League. N.F.L. members competing in debate and individual events put forth much time and effort in order to represent the school at speech tournaments. Many areas of competition were offered by the club which aided the students' development of public speaking. The members earned points toward degrees which were represented by different pins. Mrs. Thompson and Mr. Keller guided the N.F.L. members through out the year.

Each month one Senior girl and boy were selected by the Teenager of the Month Committee to represent the school in competition with other Stark County teens of the month. These students were chosen according to character, school and community services, along with leadership abilities.

The girls' leaders gave assistance to the physical education classes this year during their spare study halls. The leaders helped grade tests, lead exercises, and demonstrate various rules and positions of new sports. They also helped time, measure, and record skill tests taken by the students. Refereeing physical education sports and intramurals were also part of their duties.

Students were given the opportunity to make further preparation for their prospective careers by joining Future Farmers of America.

The Parliamentary Procedure Teams brought home first and second place ratings. The F.F.A. also joined the State Convention in Columbus, Ohio, and later five delegates were sent to the National Convention in Kansas City, Kansas. After their trips, the delegates showed slides taken at the convention to the members.

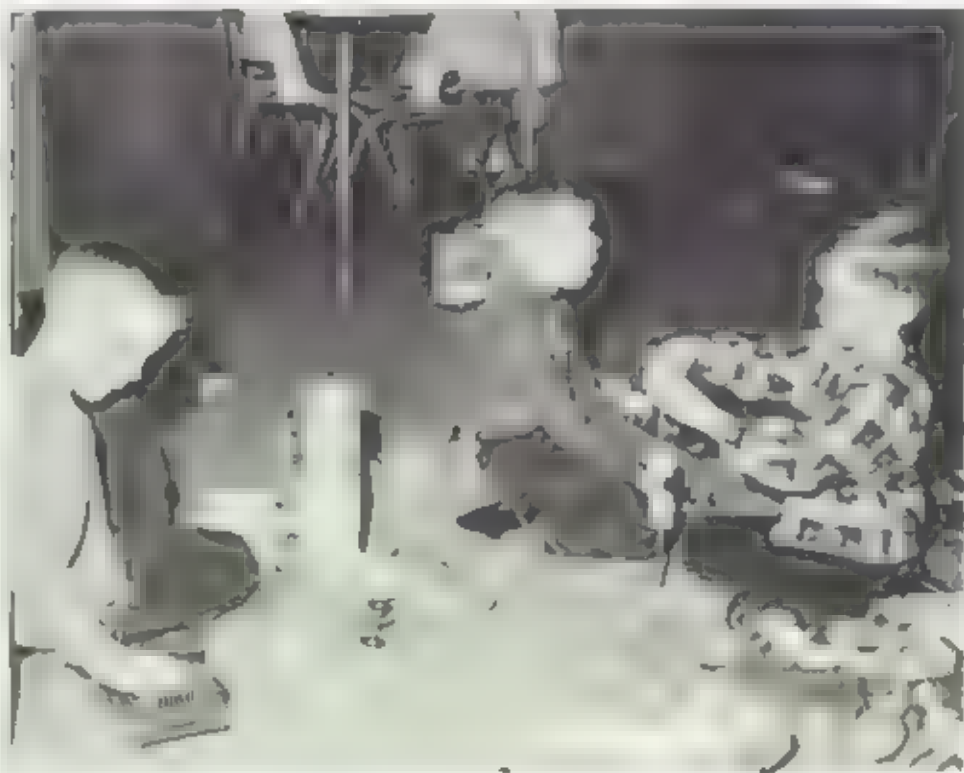

For the first time, the club was featured on a local television program. In this way they explained to the public what their club was doing. They even exhibited some of their animal projects on the show. They also sponsored other activities such as tractor pulling, growing corn, making wreaths and door swags at Christmas time, having a banquet, and serving others in the area. Some of the boys aided Mr. Ivan Pauli in cleaning rubbish from his barn which recently burned completely to the ground.

One of the more enjoyable events of the club is selecting an F.F.A. queen each year. She must be a member of the club—and is voted by her club mates

Clubs Prepare Members for Future

Home Ec. students learn more about child care by bringing their brothers and sisters to school

The National objectives of the Future Homemakers of America this year were to strengthen bonds within the family and community and to help youth comprehend problems of society and contribute to their solution. At each meeting, one of these objectives was used as a basis for their activities. A few of these projects were sending letters to service men, the annual parent-daughter banquet, at which officers were installed, and a bake sale. The club also enjoyed a picnic at Tannenhaut Golf Course and various speakers such as an exchange student from Iceland. In order to promote patriotism on Memorial Day the F.H.A. declared it red, white, and blue dress-up day.

The motto was "Toward New Horizons", and club colors were red and white. Their flower was the red rose. Degrees were awarded to members according to their achievement and dedication. These degrees were Junior Homemaker Chapter, Homemaker, and State Homemakers symbolized by the key, scroll, and torch respectively.

Clubs Extend Knowledge

With Mr. McCowen as their adviser, Commercial Club members learned more about secretarial work. They were entertained with various speakers and questioned a panel of business school graduates. Members also went on a field trip and held a banquet in the spring. Experience gained through the club and classroom work proved to be an asset to the students.

Under the direction of their adviser, Mr. Kay Vaughan, members of the Science Club developed new interest in the field of modern sciences. Their activities included field trips, parking cars at basket ball games, and guest speakers. Members also worked on projects which were shown at the Annual Science Fair in the Spring.

In its second year of existence, the Radio Club, directed by Mr. Simpson, gained new knowledge and facts about ham radios. They enjoyed many activities pertaining to this subject. One of the highlights of the year was the demonstration offered at openhouse in which members demonstrated how to reach distant places

Language Clubs Stimulate Interests

Under the guidance of Mrs. Reighard, the Latin Club learned many new and interesting facts about Roman life. To demonstrate Roman ways, new members were sold as slaves. Later in the year they served their masters at the annual Roman banquet. The students joining the club were informally initiated by the officers and older members. At a later meeting an impressive formal initiation by candlelight made the students official members of the Latini Socii.

Any student taking French was eligible to become a member of French Club. The club strived to introduce new ideas about French culture, language, and customs. To do so, they held an annual banquet at which French customs were displayed. The club sponsored a bake sale at which members dressed in native costumes of France and sold French pastries. They also enjoyed a Christmas party celebrated on Jan. 6, "The Holiday of the Three Kings" which is similar to Christmas Day for the French.

Football Squad Improves Season

The Duke Grid Squad of 1969 scored high in enthusiasm, spirit, and drive. Coached by Mr. Joe Banks, who was new to the coaching staff, the team underwent many changes. It was a season of starting over and building up for the team, whose record ended up at 1-9. Considering the fact that the squad had many new players and had to adjust to the methods of a new coach, the record they compiled was good.

Even though their record gives no appearance of an improvement, there were improvements of all sorts. Scoring was one department that improved tremendously. Few times did the Dukes fail to score throughout an entire game. Another was the way that the Dukes moved the ball. Running was much improved.

The Offensive Lineman of the year was Reggie Valentine and the Defensive Lineman of the year was Dave Halverstadt.

Willie Owens was the Most Valuable Player as well as the Offensive Back of the year. Mike Flinn performed well all season and was voted Defensive Back of the year.

The Jim Muzzy Scholastic Achievement Award was awarded to senior Dean Swift.

The 1969 Freshman Football Team ended an encouraging season with a 2-5. In spite of the setback of getting started late in the year, the young Duke gridders rated one hundred per cent in enthusiasm and team spirit. Even though the Frosh played many of the toughest teams in the area, they went into every game with the determination to win.

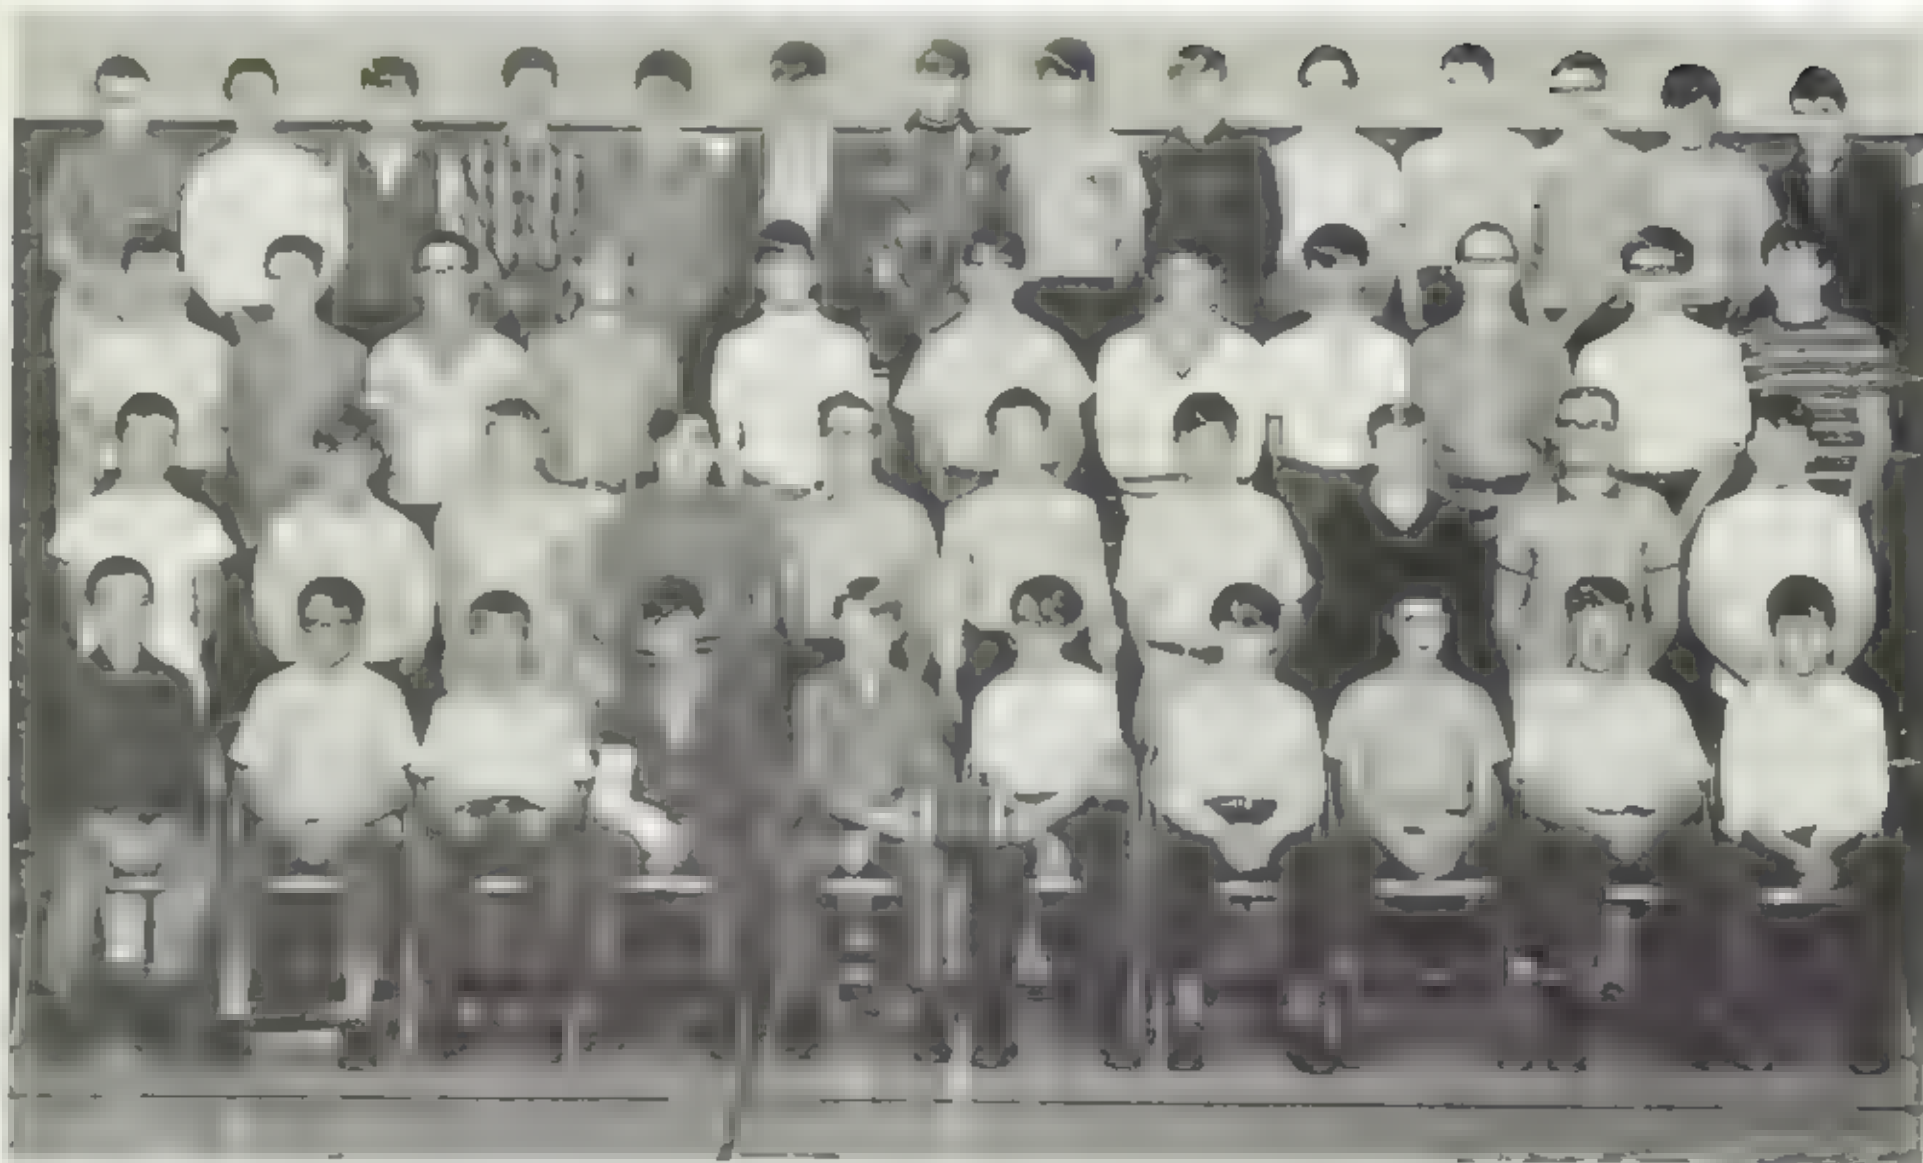

The young Dukes had a fine ground attack with a strong line and good backs. Two of the stronger backs were Dave Gabric and Mark Flitcraft. Mike Hoover joined the squad for his first year of football and proceeded to do a fine job throughout the season. Kerry Brush, a transfer in his first year at Marlinton, came on strongly as a guard.

Coaches Parker and Schnoke, both in their first year of coaching at Marlinton, did an excellent job of priming the team for tough Federal League play.

Contrary to the appearance of their record, these fine freshman football players were winners in enthusiasm, drive, and spirit.

Coaches Parker and Schnoke review some statistics.

The 1969 Eighth Grade Football team put its best foot forward on the playing field as well as learning much about the gridiron sport. Being the first year of tackle football for most of these boys, they had to concentrate on learning new skills, as they will be the varsity players in the coming years.

Cheerleaders Hold Go Power

VARSITY CHEERLEADERS Domi Ney, Deborah Moore, Debra Breit, Leslie Lanzer, LuAnn Haines

The job of the cheerleaders is to promote sportsmanship, enthusiasm, and spirit throughout the school. One of their specific duties is to attend all sports activities and to encourage the teams toward victory. Pep rallies are presented by the cheerleaders before many of the sports contests and many hours are given in the promotion of a quality "Duke Spirit" among all the students.

The captain of this year's squad, Debbie Breit, has done much toward insuring the needed leadership and to encourage a working, cheering unit within the squad. Her leadership has been of great value to the cheerleaders.

This summer the cheerleaders competed against 600 other cheerleaders at Kent State University. They received two second and two third place ribbons at this contest.

The wrestling team ended its fantastic season by placing second in the Federal League. Their final record was an outstanding one of 10-1-1. The reserve team ended its season with a perfect record of 12-0

Co-captains, Steve Taylor and Mike Flinn, were undefeated in the 137 and 155 pound weight classes respectively. Jim Aquilo, a 98 pound junior grappler, also remained undefeated.

The mighty mat squad sent 4 wrestlers to district competition in Akron after they qualified in sectional action at Louisville High School. Flinn, Taylor, and Aquilo were three of these, and tough sophomore Dick Wilkinson in the 107 pound weight class completed the foursome.

Flinn and Taylor proved their superiority to any other wrestler in the area by copping the District Championships for their weight classes.

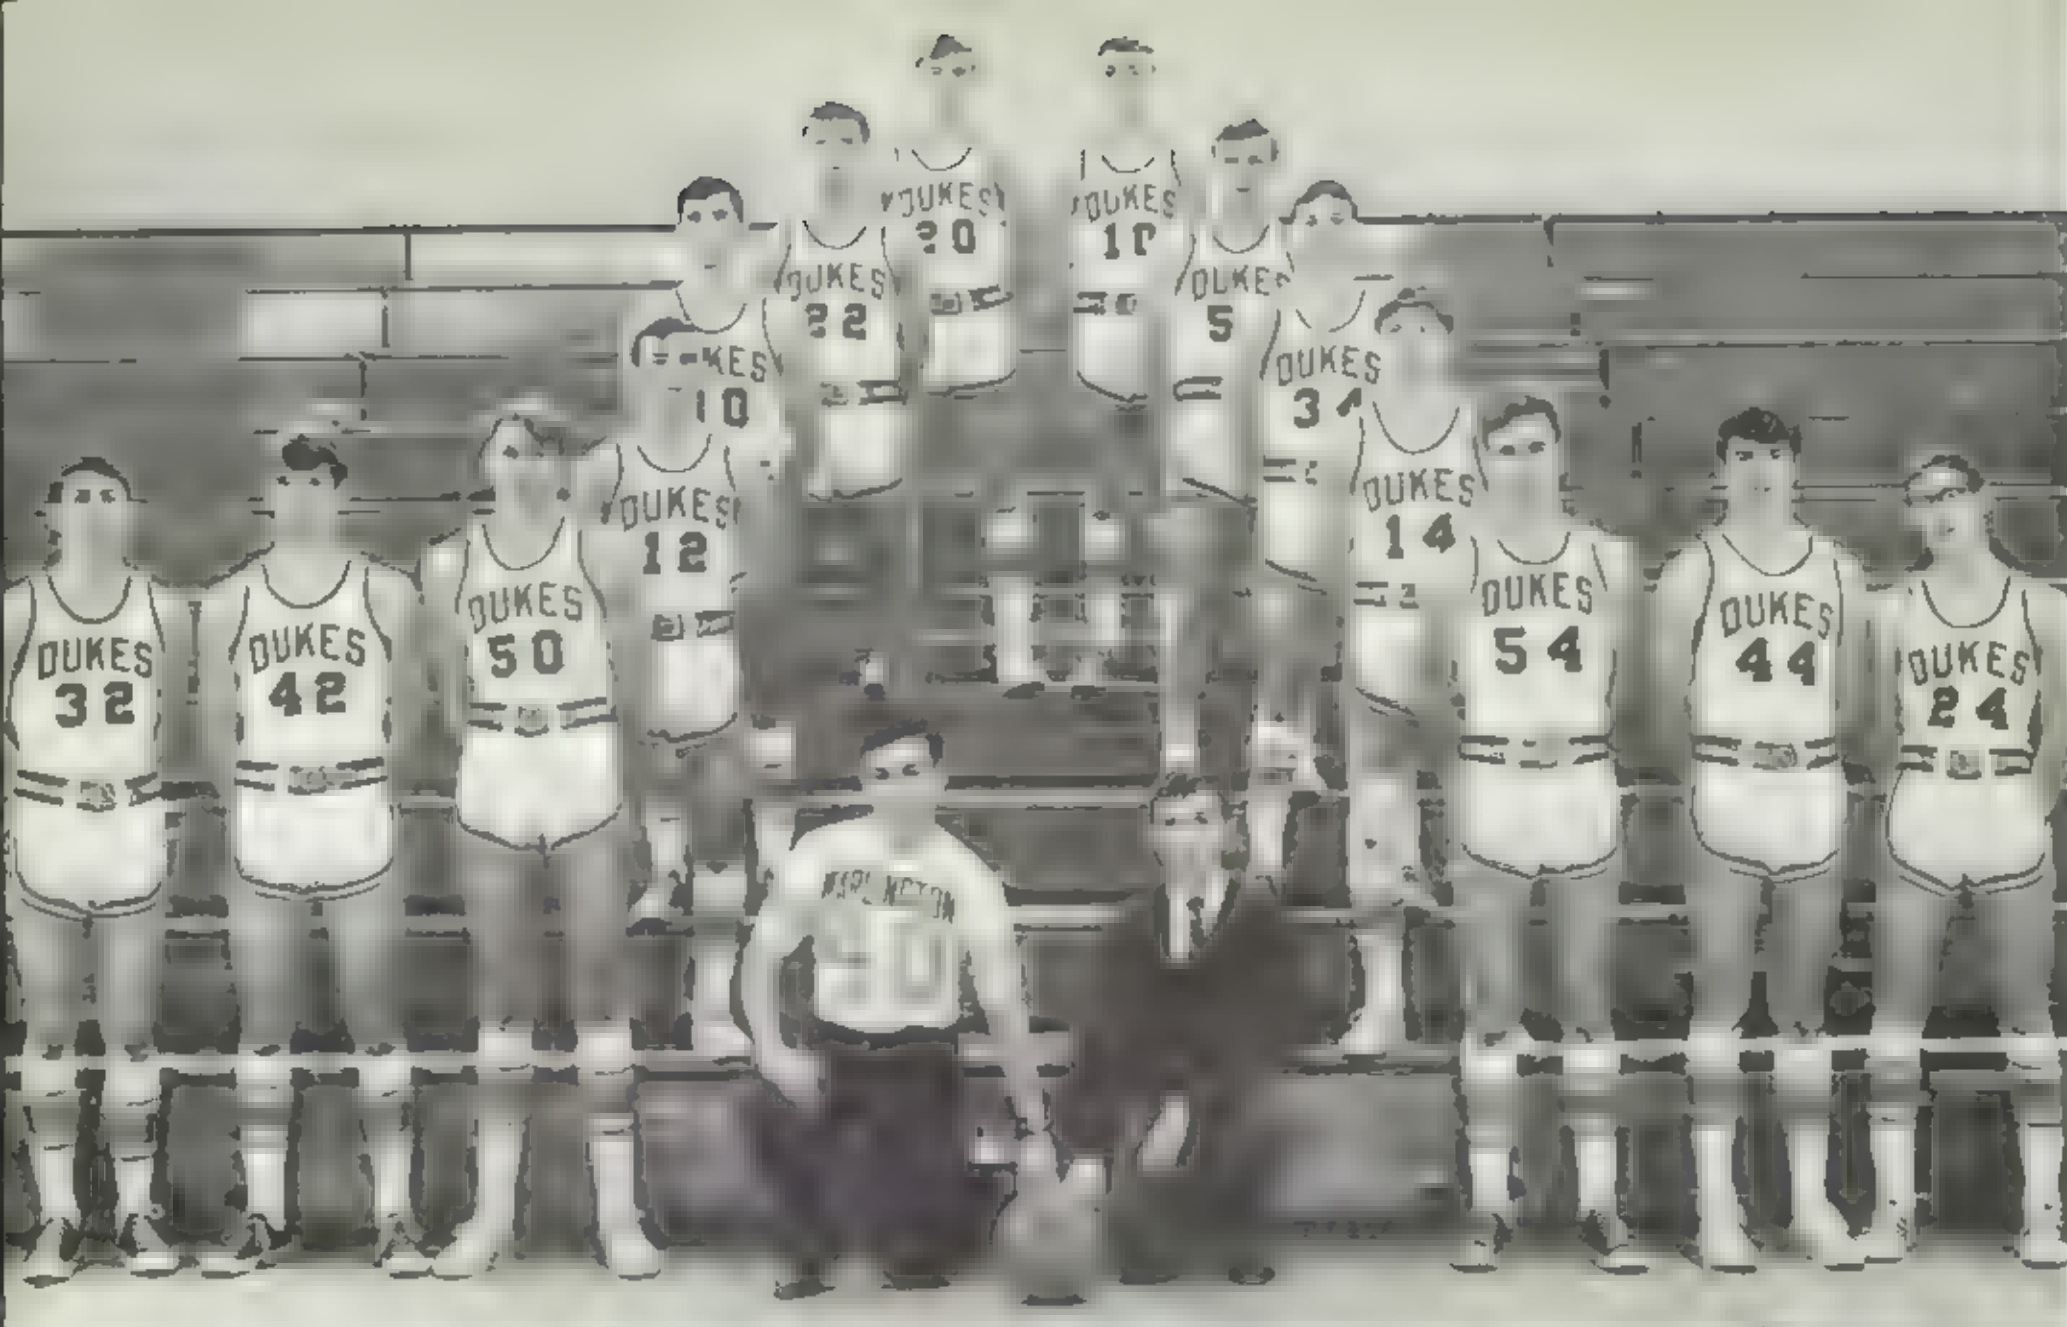

Jim Aquilo 98, Tom Thrash 107, Steve Hubbs 114, Steve Taylor 137, and Mike Flinn 155 qualified for the Alliance Review All Star First Team. Chosen for the Review's Second Team All Stars were Bill Thomas 123, Bill Hahn 130, and Phil Kiel heavyweight

In state competition, in the 137 pound weight class, Steve Taylor placed 4th in state action while Mike Flinn copped 5th in the state in the 155 pound weight class. Flinn and Taylor were also co-winners of the MVP award. The senior award went to Ron Miller

Dukes Meet Many Challenges

This year the Varsity basketball team played well during the season according to Coach Roger Schnoke.

Inexperience was the major cause for the lack of numerous wins throughout the season. Henry Simmons and Don Frank had not played much together during their freshman year, and each one had to adjust to having another big player on the same team. Gary Sherman was the leading scorer and was also the player that held the team together.

Coach Schnoke felt that the Dukes were lacking on defense, not offense. They were third in the Federal League in scoring which proves they weren't lacking in offense. Rebounding was another place where there was room for improvement.

Coach Schnoke felt that the team would be better next year since they would be more experienced in playing together, and also, they would have a better foundation with which to start.

The Duke captain, Gary Sherman surpassed Luke Witte's scoring record for one game of 48, by scoring 49 points in a single game. Also, Gary was the leading scorer in Stark County this year.

Coach Schnoke, building from the foundation up with almost all new players, uses a man-to-man defense and a zone press.

Reserves, Frosh, Polish Techniques

The Reserve Basketball team proved their skills by ending their season with an 8-10 record. Training in the art of playing good basketball came from Coach Jim Sabin. Offense was good with a balanced scoring attack, as was the defense. The young Dukers played the same schedule as the Varsity, playing their games immediately before the varsity game. The leading scorer during the season was Randy Digman with Ron Sigman next in line. Since most of these boys are only sophomores, much can be expected from them on varsity teams of the future.

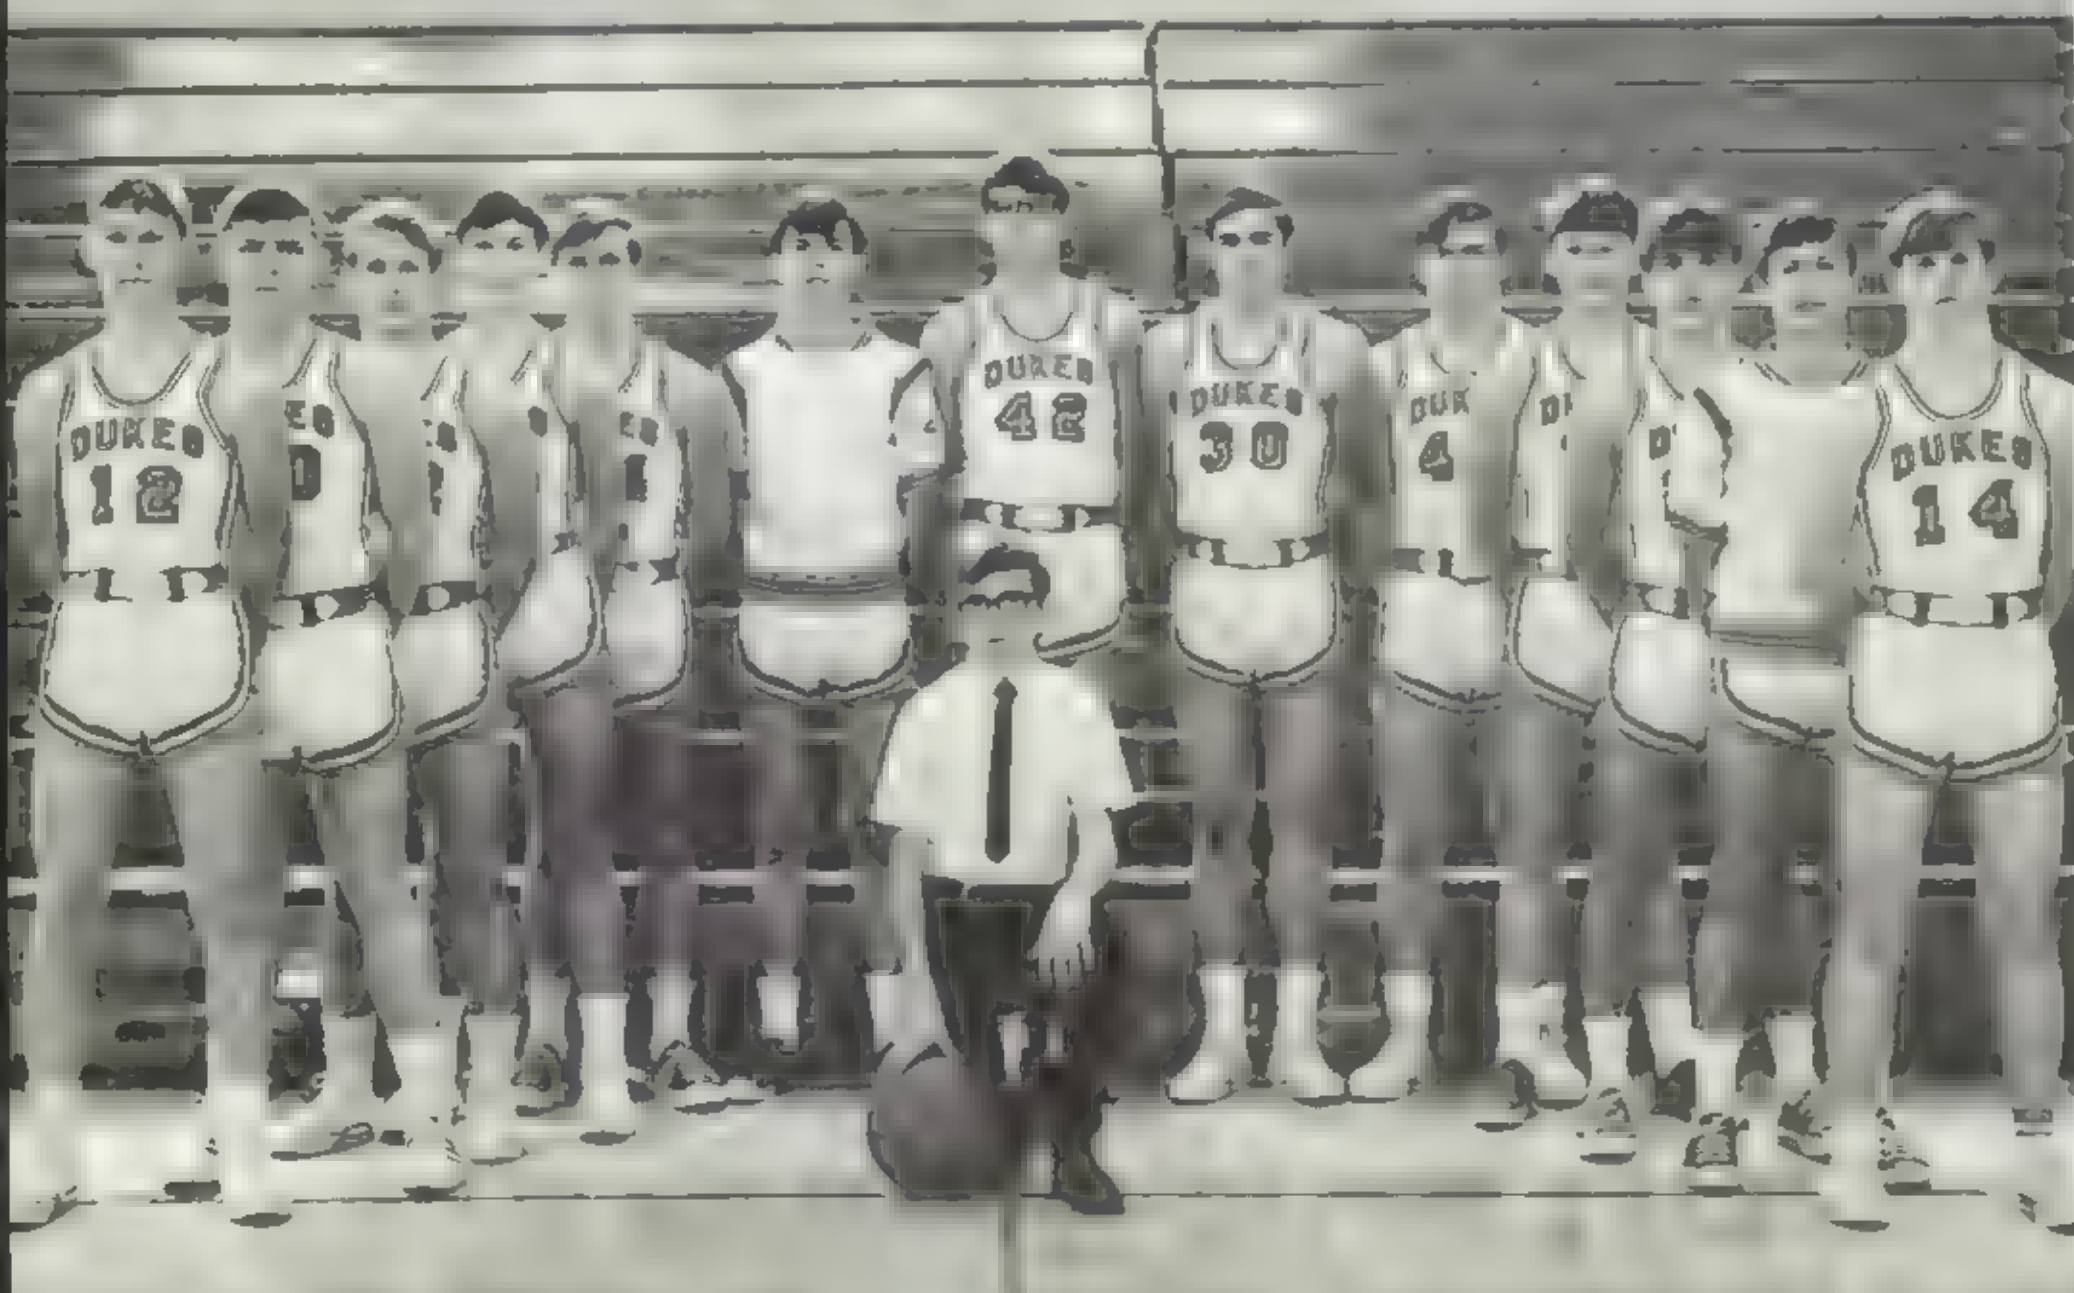

The Freshman Basketball team ended its overall season with a record of 4-11. The offense and defense both had improved greatly by the end of the season. They came within one game of winning a trophy in tournament action at the end of the season. Leading scorer for the Frosh was Millard Yoder and the leading rebounder was Don Miller. Coach Bob Davis felt that the team deserves much credit for the terrific improvement they displayed over the season. Also, he believed that the team worked much harder than their record indicated. Also, credit should go to Mr. Priest, who volunteered his services and was a great aid.

The Eighth Grade basketball team consisted of 45 boys and was divided into two teams, both about equal in height and ability. The orange team was coached by Mr. James Turner, and the other team, the black team, was coached by Mr. Jed Mewborn. The orange team played seven games and the black team participated in six. A combination of the two teams played in 5 scheduled games and one tournament game. The record for the games in which they played as a combined team was 4-1. Coach Turner felt that the teams played well together and should yield some good material for future varsity teams.

The first year for tennis at Marlinton was a year of learning and building for seasons to come. Although the record came out 1-3 for the season, the Dukes showed their competitive spirit and newly found skills in every match. John Wasem, the sophomore team captain, remained undefeated in the first team singles division throughout the season as did the first team doubles comprised of Curt Taylor and the only senior on the team, Tom Richards.

The 1969 Cross Country team finished its season with an excellent 5-4 record. These runners worked hard as a team and won as a team. Because of this excellent teamwork the Dukes ran the best season in the history of the school. Dennis Kapper, the squad's MVP, and Eugene Snyder ran neck-and-neck throughout the season although Kapper set the new school record of ten minutes forty-nine seconds. This record was made by Kapper at a home meet with Louisville. Seniors on the team this year were John Nicholas and Bill Rastetter. The co-captains were Kapper, a junior, and Rastetter. The Dukes proved how tough they were by qualifying for regional competition at Akron by copping fourth place in District action at Boardman.

In his first year of coaching Cross Country, Mr. Marazza obviously did a fine job. He gave the boys encouragement and training and was rewarded by the exceptional performances of not only separate individuals but also of the squad as one unit.

The 300 Club has been installed for the training of next year's runners. This program is to keep the squad in shape to bring home more victories next year.

Coach Lawrence Marazza lifts the team's spirits and coaches them toward a winning season.

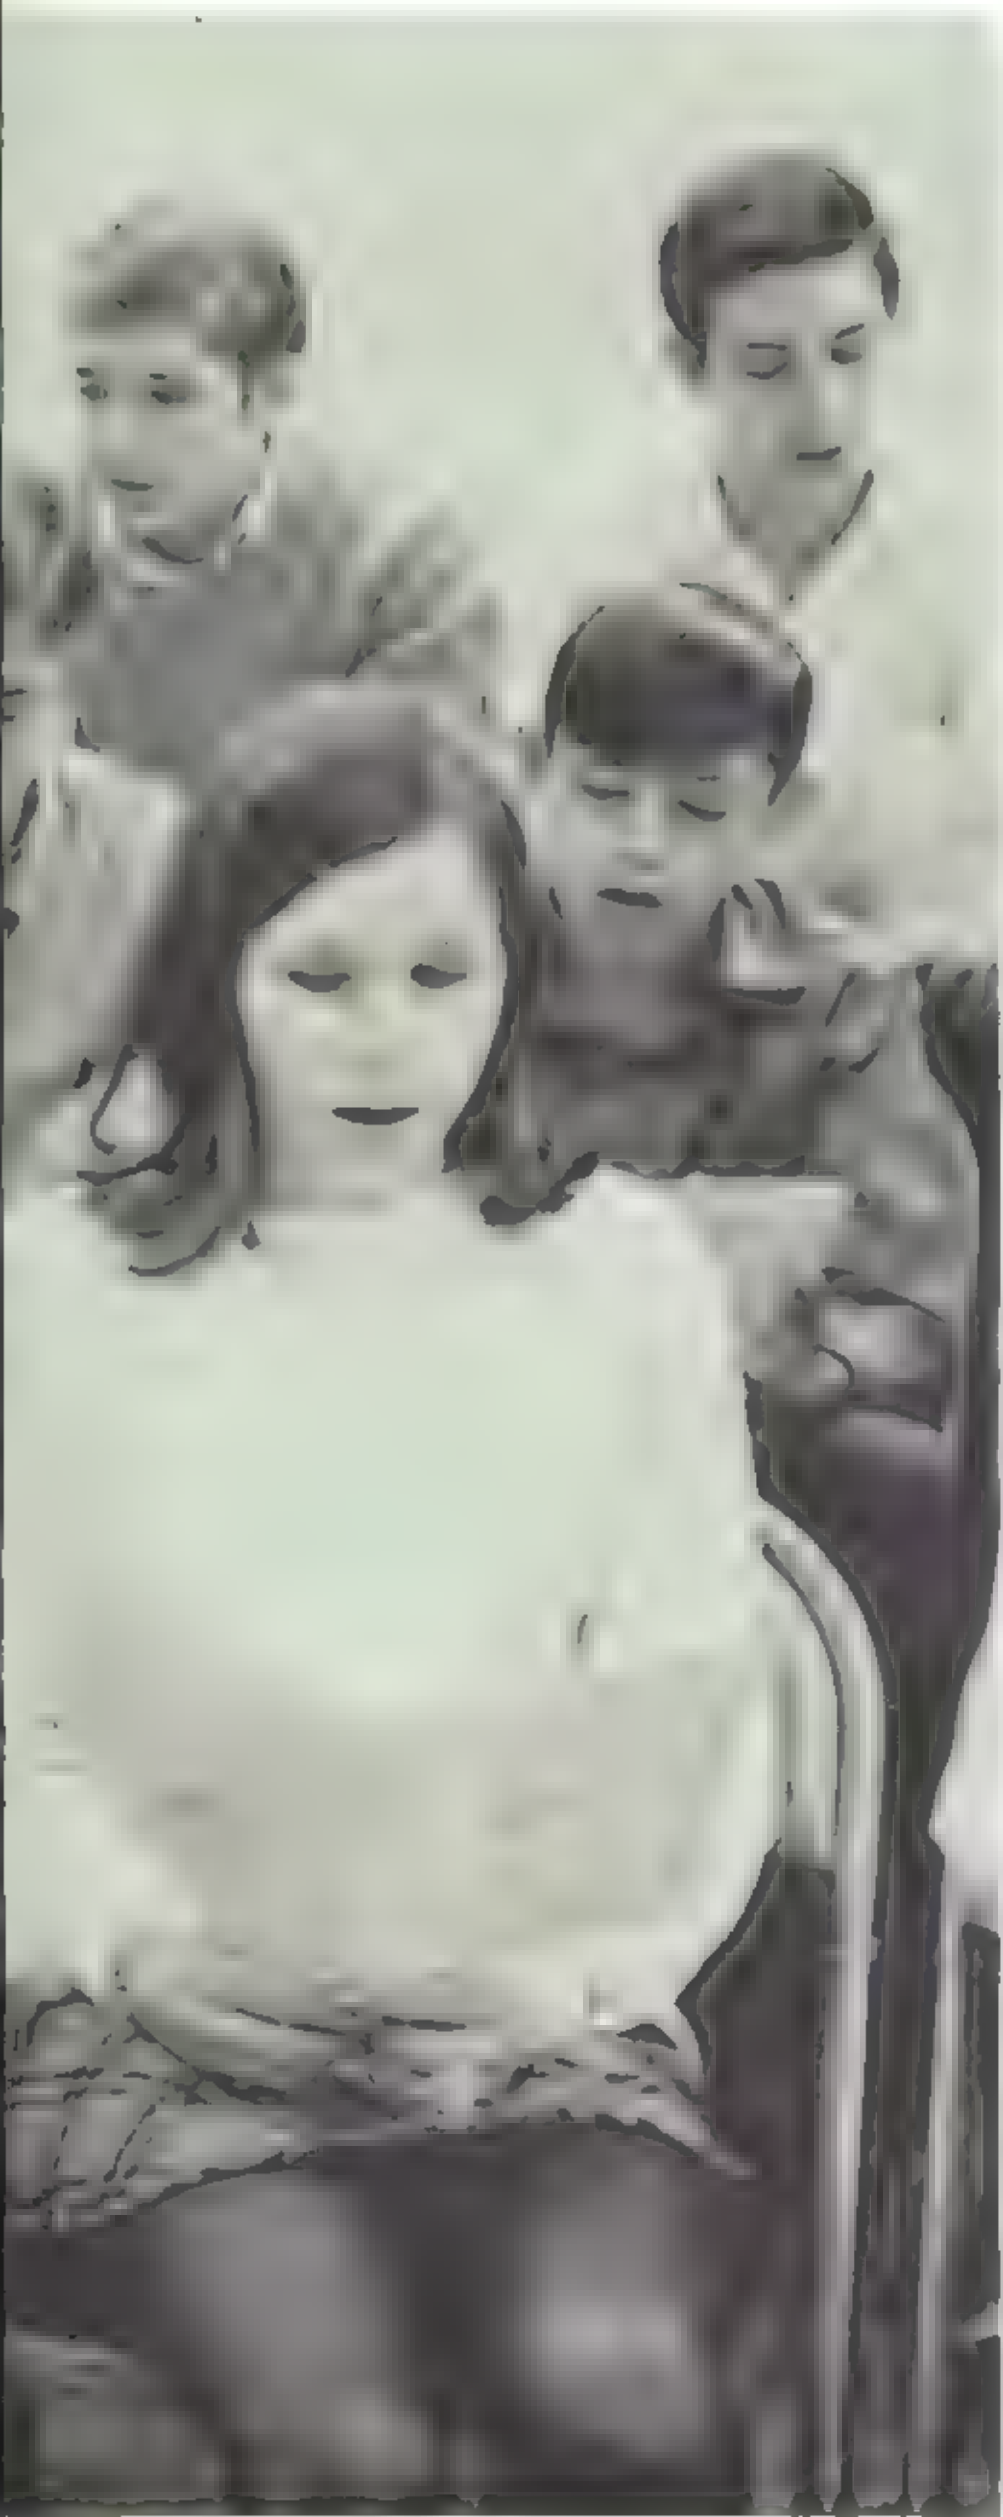

Bill Rastetter, one of the captains of the team, practiced long hours after school to attain his durability.

Marching Band Gains Fame

The band members selected Miss Kathy Adams as their 1969 Band Queen and Jack Wyles as her escort

The Marching Dukes gained fame as they expanded their activities throughout the year. Aside from the spectacular half-time shows, many with dance routines and lights, the band also performed at the Ohio State Fair and Stark County Fair. The marching band participated in many parades, including the Hall of Fame Parade in Canton, the Ohio Swiss Festival Parade at Sugarcreek, and the Carnation City Parade in Alliance. The Duke's marching season reached its climax when the band traveled to Glenville, West Virginia, to take place in the homecoming festivities of Glenville State College, where they marched in a parade and put on a half-time show.

Dave Kump, Drum Major, and feature twirlers Terrie Hillman and Debbie Nelson added much to the band's performances, twirling to "The Horse," "Watusi Trumpets," and twirling fire to "Joshua."

Concert Bands Have Successful Season

The Symphonic Band is seen practicing for their concert held on February 13.

The concert bands' successful season was attributed to their hard work and effort.

In their first performance, the Winter Concert, the Symphonic Band played "Golden Boy," "Winter Scene," and "The King and I." The Concert Band's numbers included "Fete Triumphant," "Ballet Egyptian," and the "Love Theme" from "Romeo and Juliet." The concert ended with the mass band playing "Stars and Stripes Forever."

Near the end of the school year the Symphonic Band traveled to the three elementary schools, and performed for the students, who enjoyed it very much.

The Marlinton Stage Band was host for the annual Stage Band Clinic held in the spring. Bobby Rosengarden, orchestra leader on the Dick Cavett Show, was the guest conductor. Mr. Rosengarden brought several members of his orchestra to the clinic to help the students in various techniques. This ended the season for these bands on a successful note.

The Pep Band played at all the home basketball games, encouraging the fans and players. Along with the activities during the games the Pep Band also played at half time while the majorettes, twirlers, and feature twirlers showed exceptional skill through the many routines.

The Eighth Grade Band members found that the music this year was more challenging than that played in previous years. But they realized that to get into the Marching Band they would have to work developing techniques so they practiced very hard. By the end of the year they were ready to join the Marching Band and showed much talent and promise for the new marching season.

Select Chorus Receives Recognition

The seventy-four juniors and seniors who made up the 1969-70 Select Chorus practiced on Wednesdays and Fridays to prepare for the concerts and assemblies at which they performed. At the Thanksgiving assembly the Select Chorus sang "Sing, All Ye Lands," "Praise Ye the Lord," and "Make a Joyful Noise Unto God." The Christmas assembly featured certain members in the traditional "O Holy Night." Other numbers presented were "Lo, How a Rose E'er Blooming," "Hallelujah Chorus," from the Messiah, and "Silent Night."

The first performance, the Christmas vocal, was given on December 17. Senior selections in this program included "Now Tell Us Gentle Mary," "Sing of a Merry Christmas," and "Do You Hear What I Hear?" The spring program was the Seniors' second performance which was also well received by the audience.

Continuing their musical experiences, many Seniors were also members of the two ensembles; the Senior Mixed Ensemble and Senior Girls's Ensemble. The Senior Mixed Ensemble gave an excellent performance at the Washington Ruritan Thanksgiving program on November 23. Other ensemble activities included contests in which high rankings were received.

Juniors Perform with Enthusiasm

Susan Stephenson practices her part for Junior Girls' Ensemble

Under the helpful direction of Mrs. Bingham, the Junior Chorus gained useful experience. This experience was gained through practice and performances during the year. The performances included a Christmas vocal and another vocal in the spring. Some of their Christmas numbers included "Good Christian Men, Rejoice," "Hush-a-room Carol," and "The Birthday of a King."

Special solos and ensemble selections highlighted the Christmas vocal which was enjoyed by all who attended.

The Junior Mixed Ensemble presented a Christmas program at the First Immanuel United Church of Christ on December 4.

Because of the two school concerts and several other vocal programs, the members of the Junior Chorus and ensembles spent a busy year.

We've learned one thing about profit.

If you can't make a little of it...
you can't make much of anything.

Profit is what keeps a company's wheels turning. So it can keep turning out the products its customers rely on.

And our wheels have been turning continuously for seventy years.

Profit pays for our research and development. It helps us discover new bearing and steel uses.

Profit pays for new facilities. And it pays for the people who have helped to make the profit.

Can you help? Do you have the training and determination it takes to meet the challenges of today's moon-rocketing technology? When you graduate, come see us. And if you plan to go on to college, remember us for the future.

The more we know... the more there is to learn

Education is like opening an endless series of doors.

Behind each succeeding door lies new and exciting territory waiting to be explored. Finding the answer to one question opens the door to a myriad of related questions.

Continuing to learn can be like spending the rest of your life unwrapping a surprise package. ☛ We know because we've been doing it throughout our corporate life. Every time we've thought we knew all there was to know about appliances, we've come upon 101 new questions looking for answers. It's sometimes difficult. It's always challenging.

And it's always interesting. ☛ And we're sure an important reason for Hoover appliance leadership is that we've never thought of ourselves as know-it-alls.

It seems impossible, but the 1970 Scenario has come to an end and so has the school year of 1969-1970.

There have been other years and other yearbooks, but this one will be special to me, and I hope will be special to all those who view it. This book symbolizes a change in style and creativity that I hope will be just the beginning for new ideas for books in the years to come.

I would like to thank all my friends who put up with me during this year while I threw temper tantrums and arrived to school grumpy after a long nights work. Many thanks to the faculty and administration for their patience and cooperation throughout the year. Thanks also to our advertisers for supporting the 1970 Scenario. Without their help the yearbook would not have been possible.

A personal thanks to Mrs. Janet Spencer, who has made it through a year of temperamental editors, staff members, and deadlines. The Alliance Review saved us from several picture disasters and Troup and Pluto has been our stand-by. Thanks to both of them. Consolidated Graphic Arts also deserves a medal for their patience and publishing ability

Last, but not least, I would like to thank my staff. Although they probably didn't receive a word of praise all year, I want them to know that they did an excellent job.

My goal this year was to produce a yearbook that would please the students, faculty, and administration. I hope that I have succeeded and that the book pleases everyone.

Sincerely,

Debby Becker
